Men Boored Returning To Work

New York's long-shoremen receive a round of boos and Bronx cheers from dissenters still on strike as some of the men return to work on piers in the vicinity of West 18th st. They went to work under police protection because violence broke out in union ranks and between AFL and CIO unionists, it was charged. More than 5000 of the 35,000 strikers went back and began unloading 59 vessels in the harbor, including 16 troopships.

Nation's Strike Picture Gloomy

By the Associated Press

The nation's labor disputes, numbering at least 135, kept some 385,000 workers from jobs today, lowest total this month, but the general labor picture was not bright.

The darkest cloud came out of Washington in the form of Labor Secretary Schwellenbach's announcement of collapse of the conference to settle the critical soft coal strike.

In New York groups of insurgents jeered as longshoremen reported to work. Hundreds of police stood guard.

Members of the CIO National Maritime Union shut off the steam from the S. S. Calvin Coolidge in protest against the longshoremen who were unloading her, but later the steam was turned on.

Although the government in 10 days of meetings failed to get the soft coal operators and John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers to agree over the recognition of the nine foremen's union, Schwellenbach said he still held hope of solving the dispute.

Scarcity of fuel in many strike areas brought further curtailment to steel and other industries, and threatened to close three large Pittsburgh high and junior high schools.

Thousands of steel workers have been furloughed and production in several mills has been cut 28 per cent.

In Hollywood, the AFL jurisdiction dispute continued, but Eric Johnston, new president of the Motion Picture Producers & Distributors stepped in. He was to confer with a federal conciliator today. Scattered fighting was reported as Johnston met officials of major studios.

Representatives of AFL lumber workers in the Pacific Northwest planned to meet operators today to discuss a $1.10 hourly minimum wage demand.

A threatened strike of 1300 AFL gas workers, which would have left a million homes in the Chicago area without service, was averted when unions and the People's Gas Light & Coke Co. reached a wage agreement.

Mayor LaGuardia was also to meet with a joint committee of two AFL unions today to halt a threatened milk strike which would affect 8,000,000 residents of New York City, Long Island and Westchester County.

Senate Group OK's New Truman Powers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Senate judiciary committee unanimously approved today a bill giving President Truman authority to reorganize government agencies, subject to veto by either House of Congress. The committee completely rewrote a House-approved bill.

which had failed to resume schedules at the normal pre-dawn hour. Decision to return to work was reached at a special meeting this morning in Eagles' Hall, Lynn.

Informed of the Lynn divisions' decision, Atty. Frank J. Murray, administrator of the railway now under State control, summoned union leaders and company trustees to resume negotiations.

The conference was scheduled for 4 p. m. in Room 415, Hotel Statler. Brig. Gen. Charles H. Cole, chairman of the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration, was appointed sole arbitrator by Gov. Tobin.

Return of the Lynn strikers was delayed several hours while they sought unsuccessfully to obtain a full day's pay for today even though they did not go back until noon.

Administrator Murray rejected the proposal and reiterated his statement that there would be no agreements or negotiations until the men were back at work.

John H. Carter, president of Lynn local, issued a statement claiming he had received an agreement, in writing, giving each man a bonus of 13 cents per hour until June 2, 1946, after which the bonus would be incorporated in a new contract as a pay increase.

Murray emphatically denied any such agreement had been made.

"The only one authorized to make agreements or compromises is the administrator appointed by the Governor," he declared. "I have not done so and will not permit negotiations of any kind until the men are back to work."

Carter also announced the union wage committee and the board of trustees would meet in the State House later today to work out details of the claimed bonus plan.

Murray also denied such a meeting would be held and declared the only conference between the union and the trustees would be held at Hotel Statler.

The 1630 strikers voted to end their walkout when R. B. Armstrong of the union's international executive committee notified each local failure to return to work by Wednesday noon would mean suspension from the union.

The strike began Saturday when the company refused to grant union demands for pay increases from 97 cents to $1.25 an hour for operators, a 40 per cent boost for mechanics, and a 40-hour week for all workers.

El Bus Mechanics Confer on Wages

Officials of the International Ass'n of Machinists, AFL, were to confer today with Edward Dana, president and general manager of the Boston Elevated Railway, on demands of 300 El bus mechanics for wage adjustments.

Up to a month ago the union mechanics were working a 48-hour week, with time and a half for the last eight hours. The work week was then cut to 44 hours and on Oct. 6 was reduced to 40 hours, with the take-home pay considerably reduced.

The union and company contract has a no-strike clause, it was stated.

Dowd Released From Prison

John F. Dowd, 49, former Suffolk County sheriff, was released on parole at Charlestown State Prison today and was taken in a private ambulance to the home of his wife's mother in Brookvale st., Dorchester.

The former sheriff had served two-thirds of the minimum of a six to eight-year term imposed in Suffolk Superior Court in October, 1941, on conviction of corruptly requesting and accepting bribes.

Dowd is suffering from arthritis and psoriasis, two ailments with which he was afflicted when he entered prison.

He was greeted by his wife, Mrs. Mae Dowd, and her mother, Mrs. John J. O'Connell, when he arrived home.

He refused to discuss his plans for the future, saying he wished first to regain his health.

Strike at London Docks Continues

LONDON, Oct. 16 (AP)—A back-to-work movement among thousands of striking dockworkers in London apparently collapsed today. Strikers reversed an earlier decision to return to their jobs Thursday. As 40,000 workers remained idle, 4000 British troops unloaded some of the 300 ships in port and prepared military stores for shipment to the Middle East.

Communist party dominance" of the city's government.

The General put into his second monthly report on military government in the American zone of occupation a critique on politics in Germany—including those in the Russian zone.

Eisenhower declared that one of the political devices fostered by the Communists in Berlin—a bloc of parties—would have no welcome in the American zone.

Here is what he had to say about Berlin, where the Allied control authority has its headquarters and where the four Allied powers have four zones:

"Four organized parties exist there. They were granted permission by the Soviet military authorities to organize and so were functioning when United States forces occupied the U. S. sector of Berlin."

"The four parties are the Communist party, the Social Democratic party, the Christian-Democratic Union, and the Liberal Democratic party."

"The four parties in Berlin joined, on the initiative of the Communist party, in a united front 'political bloc' intended to unify their policies on all important matters."

"The device of a political bloc will not be encouraged in the U. S. zone, as it runs counter to traditional American concepts of political activity and vigorous political life in a democratic sense."

All four Berlin parties publish newspapers, said Eisenhower adding:

"The newspapers of each party are allocated sufficient newsprint by the Soviet authorities to print 100,000 copies each, except that the Communist paper is permitted to print 200,000. All papers are subject to Soviet censorship."

In the introduction of his report made public by the War Department, Eisenhower noted that he served as chairman and Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, his deputy, as secretary of the Control Council during August.

They received the cordial cooperation of the other powers, said Eisenhower, "and the cooperative and friendly spirit of the Soviet delegation was particularly marked."

Jap Landing Foiled, Bataan Road Saved

By GEN. JONATHAN M. WAINWRIGHT

(Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or part strictly prohibited.)

The Japs struck us on Bataan shortly after Gen. MacArthur returned to Corregidor after his Jan. 10, 1942, inspection tour. They came as silently as snakes, hugging the opposite sides of Mount Silangan and infiltrating between my right flank and the mountain, and Maj. Gen. Parker's left flank and the mountain.

By Jan. 15 Parker's left flank was in bad shape. I had to send my 45th Infantry around the mountain to help him. But the Japs had got so many men through the narrow slot on Parker's left flank that they were attacking him sharply from the west and threatening to separate the First and Second Corps even more than the mountain did. My 31st Division was therefore taken from my command and assigned to Parker's Second Corps.

On Jan. 16 my First Corps was hit. Fresh Jap troops had landed at Port Binanga.

On the northwestern coast of Bataan, and now, after a march southward through the jungle, they hit my First Philippine Division. I went up to Maubon Ridge that morning, called on one troop of the 26th Cavalry to help a battalion of the First Philippine Division, and we managed to drive the Japs back across the Moron river.

But the main infantry battalion's commander suffered a severe head wound during the fighting. The next senior officer, Capt. John Wheeler, took command and though he had been painfully wounded in the leg, he stuck with his men until they had scored this delaying victory.

The situation over on Parker's left flank was deteriorating so badly, however, that my own right flank was becoming imperiled. This put me in the position of having to meet possible attacks, not only from the north and from the China Sea to my left, but also from the right, or east. I now had a three-sided front, and not enough men to fight even a one-sided front.

It meant spreading thinly, and as a result the Japs on Jan. 21 infiltrated around the right of my 1st Philippine Division and won possession of the Moron-Bagac road, the only road running down that northwestern sector of Bataan.

I went north and directed the counter-attack on the Jap forces holding the road, throwing all available reserves against them. But they held doggedly. So the 1st Philippine Division had to get back to the south, and to at least temporary safety, by coming down the narrow, sandy, rocky beaches which lay between the China Sea and the Jap-held highway.

This meant that the trapped force had to destroy all its heavier guns and all its transportation equipment, for there was no way to get this material down the beaches. The men trudged back afoot, carrying their wounded on quickly-made litters or on the backs of the strong. It was a fearful trek.

In the midst of the fight for the Moron-Bagac road I was ordered by MacArthur to withdraw all forces to the "reserve battle position"—a line running close to and approximately parallel with the Pilar-Bagac road, which crosses Bataan like a waist-belt.

That withdrawal, which had to be effected by the morning of Jan. 26, had an obvious purpose. It moved the First and Second Corps back to less mountainous ground, relieved the pressure on Parker and got us away from that infernal mountain which separated our corps in the first position on Bataan.

My First Corps' new area now reached down Bataan all the way to the southern tip, including the town and Bay of Mariveles, near which later point our engineers were building a base for the bombers which never came to our aid.

By now I had one of the most amazingly varied fighting corps in the history of U. S. arms. My new lineup of units included Brig. Gen. William E. Brougher's Eleventh Division; Brig. Gen. Fidel V. Segundo's dead-tired First Division; Brig. Gen. Clinton Pierce's Seventy-First Division; Brig. Gen. Luther R. Stevens' Ninety-First Division; the Forty-Fifth Infantry Regiment of Philippine Scouts; the tattered remnants of the Twenty-Sixth Cavalry, now commanded by Col. Lee Vance; a small group of planeless fliers and ground crewmen; some Air Corps engineers; a detachment of about 450 sailors, and the Second Philippine Constabulary.

The grounded airmen were almost totally unfamiliar with firearms and, along with the sailors, had no infantry training.

We spit on our hands and waited for the enemy to come again.

If we had had something in our bellies, some hope that we could expect help from the United States, things might have been a little more endurable. But our perpetual hunger, the steaming heat by day and night, the terrible malaria for which we did not have enough quinine, and the moans of the wounded, were terribly hard on the men, especially when all this was

THIS IS MY STORY

Editor's Note—This is Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright's ninth article of a series in which he tells for the first time the full and official story of the most humiliating defeat in U. S. history—the fall of the Philippines and the capture of himself and his loyal American and Filipino fighting men. In today's chapter Gen. Wainwright gives the details of four dramatic attempts by the Japs to break into his escape route to Corregidor.

piled on top of the knowledge that the Japs were coming at us again and there was little room left for retreating.

The horses of the 26th Cavalry had to be shot by the men they had served so gallantly, and eaten by all of us. The horses had eaten all the rice straw stacks remaining in that tip of Bataan since the last harvest. There was no forage for them . . . and their tough meat became eagerly sought slivers in our rice.

Over on Corregidor the radio station which MacArthur had renamed "The Voice of Freedom" played us some swing tunes and told us on Bataan that help was on the way. When we first heard that some of the men wept with joy. But that joy did not last long. For, you see, the announcer said such things only to try to throw a little fear of God into the approaching Japs.

It was about that time—when we fell back to what must be our last position on Bataan—that my friend Frank Hewlett, the war correspondent, wrote the little tune which went:

We're the battling bastards of Bataan—

No momma, no poppa, no Uncle Sam.

No aunts, no uncles, no nephews, no nieces,

No rifles, no guns or artillery pieces.

And nobody gives a damn.

The first blows the Jap threw at us in our new positions down toward the tip of Bataan did not come from the north, as we expected. In the midst of our move to our last ditch, the enemy landed at four points along the

Free Press Called Vital World Issue

Asserting universal press freedom is essential to the welfare of mankind, Kent Cooper, executive director of the Associated Press, warned today against tendencies toward government control of press, radio and motion pictures.

WED IN HOSPITAL—A romance that began when Robert Voges, of Medford, former Boston American-Record pressroom employe, was a patient at Waltham Regional Hospital, culminated in marriage for the former GI and the former Sgt. Tech, Claire Freers, WAC librarian at the hospital.

Speaking at the second day session of the Boston conference on distribution at Hotel Stalter, Cooper urged a public demand be made of those in power for a guarantee of press freedom throughout the world.

Referring to the recent government suit against the Associated Press, Cooper said the cause of truthful exchange of news internationally and the right to print it everywhere transcended anything which could happen to the Associated Press.

"No attempt has been made so far by the government," Cooper added, "to assert editorial powers over the news the Associated Press delivers in spite of the successful legal intervention in its affairs."

"In explanation of its efforts to make the Associated Press service available to anyone who wants it, the government distinctly disavowed any intention to gain control of the news report."

"Nevertheless, it is obvious, as in the case of radio, the powers in the hands of the administration are of far-reaching importance and are definitely not based on any expressed grant by Congress."

Cooper pointed out that freedom of speech on the radio was "definitely channeled for regulation by a government commission" while only last week the trial of a government suit against eight motion picture distributors began in New York.

In the afternoon session, Director John W. Snyder of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion asked wholesalers and retailers to aid in fighting inflation until manufacturers can cope with peacetime consumer demands.

He said reconversion was progressing well but substantial increases in production of goods would require time.

"There will be a continuous upsurge in demands from 7,000,000 new families created by wartime marriages for all manner of furnishings and household appliances," he said. "These needs will be coupled with ability to buy. Now these goods are becoming available again and the demand will exceed the supply until manufacturers can expand production. Here the danger of inflation is greatest."

Wallace, Bridges For 65c. Wage

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Commerce Secretary Wallace and Laborite Harry Bridges declared today the nation's minimum wage level should be boosted from 40 to 65 cents an hour.

Bridges said even the 65-cent minimum, which will go to 75 cents within two years, is "gravely inadequate." He testified before a Senate commerce and labor subcommittee.

Wallace appeared before a House labor committee.

Court Denies Annulment To Loveless 'Spite Bride'

Shyly and in halting voice, Mrs. Gladys Bates, 38, of Commonwealth ave., Brighton, today bared unromantic details of her wedding night in a vain attempt in Suffolk probate court to win annulment of her marriage to Albert C. Bates, 51, of Haviland st., Back Bay.

The dark-haired bride told Judge John V. Mahoney she was bewildered by her husband's actions until he finally told her she had better go home to her mother because he had "only married her for spite."

She said they were wed at the Norwell home of her sister on

Beast of Belsen's Girl Aide Tries to Justify Beatings

LUENEBURG, Germany, Oct. 16 (INS)—Irma Grese, blonde assistant to the "Beast of Belsen," resumed the witness stand this afternoon and tried to justify her beating of concentration camp inmates by asserting they "behaved like animals."

Indicating her expert knowledge of the Oswiecim (Auschwitz) and Belsen camps, the most attractive of the 45 Nazi officials on trial for mass murder declared that "in the beginning the prisoners at Auschwitz were all right."

"But," she continued, "later when I was in charge of 20 to 30 thousand they behaved like animals."

Irma mounted the witness stand shortly after her 20-year-old sister, Helena Grese, sought to defend her as a "shy, good girl." The prosecution has persistently characterized the defendant as "the cruelest of all the female accused."

Irma told how she lost patience with the prisoners because "they would not obey orders." However, she denied inflicting individual punishments or selecting victims for the gas chambers where thousands were put to death.

While admitting she carried a pistol about the Oswiecim camp, the soft-faced defendant maintained that it was unloaded, and she carried it to "protect" herself.

"But I never shot any prisoners," she added, and denied emphatically that she ever had set her dog upon any prisoner.

Defense Atty. Maj. Cranfield contended that prosecution witnesses who described the torture, beating and murder of thousands of victims at Belsen and Oswiecim had shown "spite and vindictiveness, particularly against Irma."

Lt. Col. Hurley Dies at Devens

The sudden death of Lt. Col. Daniel J. Hurley, 63, one of Harvard's all-time football greats, at Lovell General Hospital, was announced at Ft. Devens today.

Hurley captained the Harvard teams of 1903 and 1904, the only man in the history of the college to be re-elected to a gridiron captaincy.

He was due to be released from the service this week. Apparently well, he spent the week-end at his home in Langley rd., Newton Centre, and returned to Ft. Devens yesterday morning. He died a few minutes later.

Hurley was a veteran medical officer who served also in World War I. His wife, Mrs. Daniel Taff Hurley, a son, Robert, 23, who is in France, and a daughter, Jane, 21, survive.

Efforts are being made to have the son flown home for the funeral, which has been set tentatively for Friday at Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre. Burial is to be in Holy Cross cemetery, Malden.

Three Hadamar Chiefs To Die for Gassings

WIESBADEN, Oct. 16 (AP)—Alfons Klein, former head of Hadamar Insane Asylum, was sentenced to death by a German military tribunal for systematic murder of more than 400 Russian and Polish inmates.

Sentenced to death also were Heinrich Ruoff and Karl Willig, asylum attendants who admitted administering lethal doses of morphine to hundreds.

Adolf Wahlman, chief medical officer at the asylum, was sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor. Adolf Merkle, who admitted falsifying death certificates to make it appear the victims died of lung diseases, got 39 years, and Philip Blum, asylum undertaker, 30 years. Imgard Huber, chief nurse, got 25 years imprisonment.

Asylum Suspect Grilled in Death

The bludgeon murder of Miss Sarah Rodman, 43-year-old pharmacist, outside her home in Fottler rd., Mattapan, Oct. 8, for the solution of which rewards now total $1500, remained unsolved today after police spent a long time questioning a former inmate of the State Hospital in Mattapan.

Answering the questions was a 27-year-old former Connecticut farmhand, who also underwent interrogation in connection with the criminal attack-murder of little Frances McGrath in Scituate.

He had been picked up on suspicion of breaking and entering and was finally booked on that charge, his case being continued for a week in Dorchester court.

Rewards in the Rodman murder include $1000 offered by her employer, the Liggett Drug Co., and $500 voted by the city council.

Boston police recovered several thousand dollars' worth of loot from burglaries in Brookline, Waverly and Quincy, after raiding a Westminster ave., Roxbury house.

Meanwhile, a theft of $2615 and a holdup were under investigation by detectives today. In the hold-up, Barnett Goodman, 62, a tailor in Washington st., near Northampton st., South End, was beaten by an armed Negro and robbed of $8.

Mrs. Louis Simpkins of St. Louis told police a thief stole her leather handbag containing a $2400 diamond ring, a wedding ring, a watch and $100 in cash which she had laid on the counter of a downtown department store.

Love Nest Death Jails Dad of 5

After Medical Examiner Timothy Leary admitted today under cross-examination his finding of strangulation as the cause of death of Mrs. Helen Crory was "conjecture," Judge Elijah Adlow in municipal court changed the charge against Joseph T. Kane, 36, from murder to assault and battery.

Mrs. Crory was found dead in the room where she and Kane were living in Warren ave., South End, Sept. 24. Dr. Leary today also said she had suffered from edema of the brain and a kidney ailment, and either might have caused her death.

Judge Adlow sentenced Kane to a year in jail on the assault charge. He added two six-month terms on a morals complaint and a larceny charge.

Kane's estranged wife, who lives with their five children in Spooner ave., Natick, was in court.

Polygamous Couple Get Year Probation

With a warning from Judge Charles L. Carr to stay away from each other, Mrs. Bertha Comeau, 36, and Robert E. Stubbart, 40, were given suspended sentences of one year each and placed on probation for a year on polygamy charges in municipal court today.

The couple, who married in New York last Sept. 19, had been living in Commonwealth ave., Back Bay.

Patrolman Kujawa Dies, Funeral Friday

Patrolman Thomas J. Kujawa, 52, of Columbia rd., Dorchester, member of the Boston police department for more than 20 years, died at City Hospital today of a stomach ailment. He leaves his wife, Mary.

Lie Test for 2 In Wife Slaying

PONTIAC, Mich., Oct. 16 (INS)—A hatchet found near the scene of the murder of Mrs. Lydia Thompson, wealthy Highland pk. laundry proprietor, was to be sent today to State Police headquarters in Lansing. It was found in the road not far from Springfield township where Mrs. Thompson was hacked to death Saturday.

Police also announced Andrew Juchenko, Mrs. Thompson's Russian-born father, has been found in Detroit and was to be brought to Pontiac for questioning. Mrs. Thompson's estranged husband, Louis, and his former secretary were to take lie detector tests today in Lansing.

Police said previous questioning of Thompson and the secretary, Mrs. Helen Budnik, 38, failed to involve them. Officers said the lie detector tests will be taken to confirm or refute their statements.

Interrogation of Thompson, wealthy automobile dealer, and Mrs. Budnik, police said, revealed Thompson had been attentive to his secretary for some time. Mrs. Budnik, they said, admitted a love affair with Thompson which she repeatedly attempted to break off. Mrs. Thompson was insanely jealous, Mrs. Budnik said.

Mrs. Thompson's body, nearly decapitated and horribly slashed, was found on a lonely "lover's lane" by mushroom pickers.

Police are puzzled over why Mrs. Thompson, reputedly wealthy, worked in her own hand laundry and lived part of the time in an apartment above the place and the remainder in the Thompsons' palatial home on Indian Trail rd.

Russian-born Mrs. Thompson met Thompson, then in the British army, and married him in Istanbul, Turkey, in 1922. Mrs. Budnik admitted that Thompson followed her to Florida recently, that she and Thompson had adjoining rooms, and that Mrs. Thompson and a private detective found them in the hotel.

Patty Coogan Jilts Vic Mature For a Marine

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—Vic "What a Man" Mature can go peddle his Coast Guard snapshots so far as Patty Coogan, pretty society model, is concerned—the Marines have landed.

Patty, member of one of New York's first families, has told the great screen lover their beautiful romance is over and she is betrothed to Marine Richard Cowell of Park ave. and Washington, heir to Standard Oil millions.

She gave her promise to Dick just before he sailed to Tokyo, where he expects a fairly long tour of duty in teaching Japs the American way of life.

Patty is great-granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Theodore A. Havemeyer, 1891 grandnephew, Mrs. James C. Coogan, owns the Polo Grounds, including the famed adjacent Coogan's Bluff.

While Dick is away, Patty plans to go right on with her modeling, but not because the family fortunes need replenishing. In fact, they never have been dented.

Meanwhile, Vic is taking it philosophically. He flashed his prettiest smile and went out on a Hollywood date with Buff Cobb, granddaughter of the great and only Irvin S.

Hero's Welcome Awaits Kenney

Civic leaders joined Mayor Kerrigan today in planning a hero's welcome for Gen. George C. Kenney, commander of the Allied air forces that drove the Japs from the skies, when he arrives Thursday.

The two-day celebration will wind up with a parade through downtown streets Friday morning. Gen. Kenney, former Brooklyn boy, whom Gen. MacArthur hailed as "one of the world's outstanding air leaders," will be met by the mayor and other officials, including scientists from his own M. I. T., at Logan Airport at 4 p. m.

Official welcome will be given on the Common, after which he will be guest of the city at a dinner at the Copley-Plaza.

The parade begins at 9:45 a. m. Friday, according to tentative plans, with Maj. William W. Drummer, chairman of the Boston Transit Commission, as marshal.

Stettinius, III, Quits United Nations Parley

LONDON, Oct. 16 (INS)—Edward R. Stettinius, chairman of the United Nations executive committee, left London today for the United States for treatment of a gallstone condition.

Adlai Stevenson will represent the U. S. during the concluding session of the committee.

Mother's Salute Costs Life

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16 (AP)—An elderly mother, one of whose two Navy sons is missing in action, paid with her life yesterday because she thought that waving a welcome to units of the Third Fleet was the "least I could do."

Mrs. Elizabeth Arnold Haggie, 60, of Oakland, Cal., had been which belted the Japs out of their own waters—and are now to join the citizenry in celebrating Navy Day.

Due tomorrow are the mighty battleships North Carolina and New Mexico, as well as the light cruiser Concord and two destroyers, the John Rodgers and the Harrison.

Churning along not far in their wakes are the famous aircraft carrier Wasp, the heavy cruiser Fall River, four submarines, the Drum, Paddle, Whale and Mackerel; the destroyer escorts Tweedy and Edward H. Allen.

Approximately 12,000 officers and men, 2700 of them due for discharge, are aboard the oncoming vessels.

The battleships and the light cruiser will put in at the South Boston drydock.

The two destroyers will dock at Commonwealth Pier here.

Of the later comers the Wasp will be at Commonwealth Pier here; the heavy cruiser Fall River at Commonwealth Pier, Berth L, East Boston; the destroyer escorts at the Army Base; the submarines Drum and Paddle at India wharf and the submarines Whale and Mackerel at Long wharf.

The ships due tomorrow are expected to reach Boston Light by approximately 1 p. m. They will be greeted by a tug bearing high naval officers and WAVES. Army craft and a Boston fireboat will also meet them.

Naval officers said the public will be welcomed aboard all the vessels from Oct. 26 to Oct. 30.

Many New Englanders are aboard the six vessels due tomorrow. Boston hotels are making preparations to accommodate hundreds of men from other parts of the country who will have shore leave.

Aboard the North Carolina is Lt. Com. James A. Curran of Lindsey st., Dorchester. He was the surviving senior officer when the destroyer Strong was sunk in Kula Gulf. As gunnery officer on the Strong he was credited with sinking a Japanese submarine.

On her way here from Pasadena, Cal., to greet Com. Curran is his young bride, the former Jane Harvey.

Aboard the North Carolina also is CPO Charles E. Murphy of Columbus ave., North Cambridge, who served as bridge talker in every one of the 35,000-ton battlewagon's engagements.

Wives, sweethearts, parents and other relatives from all the New England states are expected to make Boston their headquarters as Navy Day nears. The men whose arrival they await so eagerly have been away a long time, some four and five years.

In Salem the Navy Day celebration will center on arrival of the submarine chaser PC1203.

Plymouth will have the submarine chaser PC617, also a landing ship, tank.

The Navy is assigning the destroyer Laub and the submarine Fog to New Bedford. Fall River is to have the destroyer escort Menges, the submarines Pike and Porpoise, and the minesweeper Invade.

Marblehead draws the submarine chaser PC1265.

GILBERT H. THIBAU
Divorces Wife Second Time

INS by Louis Tolan

Sailor Divorces Same Wife Twice

Sic Gilbert Thibau of Bennington st., East Boston, today in Suffolk Probate Court divorced Mrs. Mildred Thibau for the second time in 28 months and obtained custody of their 4-year-old son, Gilbert, Jr.

Thibau, who was granted a decree on grounds of cruelty, told Judge Mahoney he joined the service immediately after getting his first divorce June 10, 1943. He took his wife back, he said, when his ship arrived in New York and remarried her Feb. 28, 1944.

But the second marriage lasted only a week. He said she disappeared very often and told him it "was none of his business" when he asked where she stayed. He said she wrote him in Africa and told of various fellows she was going out with. Mrs. Thibau did not contest.

3d Fleet Docks On West Coast

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16 (AP)—Riding at anchor today in more than a dozen West Coast ports are ships of the mighty U. S. Third Fleet.

Adm. Halsey's flagship, the South Dakota, led 14 warcraft through the Golden Gate here.

At San Diego the West Virginia and the escort carriers Sargent Bay and Kadsashan Bay were anchored.

Los Angeles greeted the Texas and Nevada and the destroyers Collett and Maddox.

The Iowa and Arkansas were at Seattle.

Her Trousseau, Red Cap Vanish

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 16 (AP)—A newly discharged WAVE who expected to be a bride Sunday is sitting disconsolately near a telephone in a Buffalo hotel awaiting word of two lost suitcases containing her trousseau.

Terry Leonard of St. Louis, Mo., said she gave the bags to a red cap as she got off a train Saturday night. Her fiancé, former C PhM Carl Lyons of Indiana, is waiting for her in Chicago.

Miss Leonard said if the bags were not found today, she would discuss "setting another date."

B. U. Woman Official Killed by Auto

Struck by an auto at Boylston and Exeter sts., Back Bay, Mrs. Estes, 38, assistant registrar at Boston University and prominent Massachusetts clubwoman, died today at City Hospital.

Her husband, Wendell Estes, of Northboro rd., Marlboro, was at her bedside.

Jews Treated Well, Lynne, Malden Ike Tells President Hold Primaries

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower reported today that Jewish refugees in American-occupied Germany generally have more housing space than is required for U. S. soldiers.

Doveless Doom

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16 (AP)—The death warrant for Philadelphia's disease-infected pigeons, providing humane extermination by gas, has been signed by Mayor Bernard Samuel.

Trapping of the birds will begin Thursday.

Tests showed 35 to 48 per cent infected with virus pneumonia, or parrot fever.

D. A. R. Hall Ban Stirs Up House

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Controversy over denial of Constitution Hall for the appearance of Hazel Scott, Negro musician, broke out on the house floor today. Rep. Rankin (D.) of Mississippi declared attacks on the Daughters of the American Revolution, owners of the hall, are of "Communist" origin.

"We have come to a hell of a pass," he shouted. The galleries applauded.

Rep. Coffee (D.) of Washington said he deplored "drawing of the color line" in the use of the hall which, he said, enjoys freedom from taxes.

Applause also greeted his speech. Speaker Rayburn admonished the spectators.

The commander of U. S. forces in Europe made this statement in a letter to President Truman in reply to a report by Earl G. Harrison, U. S. representative on the inter-governmental committee on refugees, on conditions in the U. S. zone.

Harrison had said that the treatment accorded Jewish and other displaced persons in the U. S. area was little different from that they received under the Nazis.

Eisenhower said the food allowance for displaced persons has been increased by 300 calories daily. They have adequate and suitable clothing and shoes, and "uniformly excellent medical attention," he added.

"At the time of Mr. Harrison's report," Eisenhower wrote, "there were perhaps 1000 Jews still in their former concentration camps. These were too sick to be moved at that time. No Jewish or other displaced persons have been housed in these places longer than was absolutely necessary for medical quarantine and recovery from acute illness. It has always been our practice, not just our policy, to remove these victims with the utmost speed."

Displaced persons, Eisenhower said, have "absolute preference" over Germans for housing. "Efforts to improve their condition continue unabated," he reported. "Subordinate commanders are under orders to requisition German houses, grounds and other facilities without hesitation for this purpose."

He added that, although he had found crowded conditions on recent inspections of Jewish centers, "in nearly every instance more than the 30 square feet per person of floor space required for our soldiers was available."

Malden and Lynn held city primaries today with contests for mayor, municipal offices and school committee.

In Malden, there are four candidates for mayor. Seeking a second term, Mayor John D. McCarthy is opposed by former Mayor Vernon C. Newman, who left the office to enter the Army, and Alderman Charles E. Austin and Rep. Fred Lamson.

Three candidates seek the two mayoral nominations in Lynn. They are Mayor Arthur J. Frawley, Albert Cole, an Army captain who was in office when he entered service, and William E. Sexton.

Polls in both cities are open until 8 p. m.

Jap Navy Captain's Inside Story About Pearl Harbor

By HAMILTON FARON

TOKYO, Oct. 16 (AP)—A Jap navy captain disclosed today crews of six Jap aircraft carriers that struck the war-breeding blow at Pearl Harbor thought they were on a training mission until the day before the assault. Capt. Mitsue Fuchida, "supreme commander" of the carriers' flight groups, said in an interview that all six had been sunk since the Dec. 7, 1941, strike, adding:

"I believe I am the only one left" of the sneak attack group. The carriers were the Akagi, Kanga, Soryu and Hiryu, sunk in the battle of Midway June 4-6, 1942; the Shokaku, sunk in the battle of the west Marianas, and the Zuikaku, destroyed in the second battle of the Philippines.

Fuchida said the Pearl Harbor attack force also included two battleships, three cruisers, four destroyer flotillas of four ships each and eight tankers.

This fleet, Fuchida related, sailed from the Chi Shima Islands Nov. 26, 1941. On Dec. 3, the fleet personnel was told Japan might enter the war and "the men became kind of excited" but "calmed down" when given the order to attack.

"We took off from the carriers 200 miles off Pearl Harbor," he said. "The first flight consisted of 50 planes assigned to horizontal bombing, 40 torpedo planes, 50 dive bombers and 40 fighters, a total of 180.

"The remaining planes were divided into three groups to attack Hickam, Ford island and Schofield airfields."

Fuchida said American ack ack downed nine planes of the main group. Attacks on the airfields, by 170 planes, also lasted 45 minutes, he related, and 20 planes were shot down.

Fuchida said, "We found nine American battleships, sank four and damaged four, and estimated there were 900 planes on the island and believed we wrecked about half of them."

On the way back to Japan two carriers left to attack Wake island.

Why Royalty Move In Spain Collapsed

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND

Dean of American Foreign Correspondents

Written Expressly for the Hearst Newspapers

MADRID, Oct. 16—The plan to restore the monarchy in Spain, which had been well under way, has now been completely shattered. It failed for three reasons:

First: the opposition of America, Britain and Soviet Russia.

Second: the reported demand by France for a three-year regency as a transition interlude, with France herself as the regent or one of three regents.

Third: the fact that present political conditions in Europe and the economic situation in Spain do not provide the essential basis that would assure stability, durability and prosperity for reestablishing the monarchy.

Fundamentally interrelated, though there is little visible connection at the moment, is the set back that the admitted failure of the Spanish Monarchist movement is believed to have given to the monarchial movements in Greece, Yugoslavia, Austria and Bavaria.

It may even give an impetus to Communist and Socialist efforts in Italy aimed at abolishing the monarchy in that country.

Generalissimo Franco refuses to go, either to please the Monarchists or the Communists within and without the country.

Franco bids defiance to the "international Communist conspiracy against Spain."

He will stay and fight for "Christian law and order," if need be.

At the same time, Franco is following Premier Salazar's lead in Portugal, with wholesale amnesty for political offenders prior to 1939.

Franco has also called for municipal elections next March as a prelude to other elections.

22 Listed in Distribution Of Weekly News Tip Prizes

Twenty-two alert Record-American readers are richer this week because they jumped to telephones and called the city editor at Liberty 4000 when a newsworthy event happened in their neighborhoods.

A Waltham man was given a $10 award for giving a news tip on the delay in state bonus payments to veterans.

A Somerville woman was sent a check for $5 for her tip on the human interest story of a Brockton woman who wrote to her pastor in her search for a husband. The story was even better than fiction for she found her man and a marriage followed.

Checks for $3 each went to a Brighton man for the first word on a three-alarm fire in the Keith Stables and to a Charlestown man for a tip on the long-shoremen's strike.

Eleven men and women were awarded $2 each for their news tips on such varying stories as a theft of $45,000 in war bonds, the suicide of a nurse in a Brookline vacant lot, a three-alarm South End fire in which one person was killed, three rescued in a Cambridge blaze, a street car and auto crash in Somerville, a South End fire that drove out 20 persons, the presence of notable personages aboard the S. S. Mariposa, an auto crashing an upright in Sullivan sq., a Somerville accident, another in an Everett cemetery and a child run over in the Back Bay.

Grounded Wire Causes El Tieup

Thousands of men, women and children were delayed 24 minutes today at the height of the morning rush hour by a Boston Elevated tieup on the rapid transit line between the Green st. and Forest Hills stations.

Grounding of a motor lead wire on a train at the Green st. station was said halted inbound and outbound trains.

Buses and surface cars were put into service.

MALAYA TO SHIP RUBBER

Many Ask to Take Dutch Stowaway

Immigration officials today studied the status of Adrian C. Limbert, 13, Dutch stowaway who arrived here Sunday aboard the transport Lincoln Victory, as officers to adopt him flooded the office of the Netherlands consul.

Consul T. K. Hebert announced that none of the offers could be considered until the boy's story has been checked and his status determined.

Meantime, the English stowaway bride, Mrs. Donnesse Nancy Heath Kuhn, given permission to remain in this country a year during which time she must go to Canada and re-enter legally, and her merchant seaman husband are honeymooning at Niagara Falls, prior to going to their home in Rochester, N. Y.

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—I have recently been discharged from the service and have a wife in England who is anxious to come to the U. S., but unable to obtain transportation. Have you any information how soon it will be before transportation is made available for war brides? M. G., Manchester, N. H.

A—You are only one of several hundred in the same predicament and our government is trying its best to provide transportation. However, our soldiers who have been overseas in combat since D-Day must be returned first. Latest word is provision is being made for several hundred to return first of next month.

Q—My husband went AWOL last January and was given a five-year sentence. I have a child to support besides myself and the $80 allotment has been stopped. Is there any way I could collect this money under present conditions? E. P., Cambridge.

A—The court-martial provided in sentence that allotment be stopped in his case, that is why you don't receive it. Those being confined for long terms have family allotments denied them as well as pay. Red Cross may help you in gaining aid while husband is prisoner.

Q—I was released from active duty after eight months and discharge was at my request. I was 43 years old at that time. Was not given regular discharge at time, but instead Certificate of Release. Later, however, was given regular Honorable Discharge. Am I entitled to mustering-out pay? When I applied with the certificate was informed not eligible. W. D., Nashua, N. H.

A—Not entitled to mustering-out benefit because you were released in order to enter war plant under War Dept. regulation in 1942-43, but later rescinded. Congress has been asked to amend mustering-out pay law and provide above benefits to those men discharged under conditions "to enter war plant work." Men requesting discharges, under present regulations, receive mustering-out pay. Contact your Congressman regarding status of amendment.

Q—Where can I obtain information concerning Civil Service examinations for veterans? Although not discharged, I wish to get an idea on what is open "U. S. N."

A—Write Federal Civil Service Office, Federal Building, Boston, relative to U. S. Gov't positions. For State of Mass., contact Civil Service Bureau, State House, Boston. Any U. S. Employment Office will also give you list of jobs available under civil service.

Q—Before I entered the service I had a small landscape business, but during three years tools and truck became obsolete. Can I under G. I. Bill obtain loan to replace above in order to reopen business? W. J. Boston.

A—Yes, you may apply for loan under G. I. Bill to enter landscape business. Surplus commodities such as truck and tools, if available, may be obtained due to your veteran rating. For information on latter apply at 17 Court st., Boston.

Q—I have been a prisoner of war for 14 months and have been in service for a total of 2½ years. Do you know what they plan to do with us ex-prisoners? Since return to U. S. I have been a patient at a local Army hospital.

A—That is a question that only a War Dept. official could answer at present. Apparently you have not sufficient points for discharge and may need further medical attention. Keep up your course. There has been no definite regulation for discharge of liberated prisoners.

Q—I have a boy in the service and he has only 13 points. He is attached to 1st Air Div. ACS. Will that outfit be leaving for States soon? F. P., East Weymouth.

A—High point members of that group have been returned to States. Doubt whether son will be returned soon, due to small number of points. Many low point men are being reassigned to other outfits for occupation duty.

Q—Will you tell me when the 82nd Airborne Division is expected to return from Europe—"Mother and Dad," Somersworth, N. H.

A—Leaving Germany Oct. 15th and expected to be on high seas first week in December.

This Is My Story ★ ★ By Gen. Jonathan Wainwright

southwestern and southern extremity of the peninsula, sternly threatening my 1st Corps' left rear flank and imperiling the only road that led from my front line to the southern tip of Bataan.

The Jap landing at Longskawayan Point, not far from Mariveles and the most southerly of the rear attacks, was well contested by a battalion of the Forty-Fifth Infantry (Scouts) and by 450 sailors under the command of Com. Bridgett, U. S. N.

The force that came ashore at Quinuan Point, at the other end of the four-pronged landing, ran into a small, tough group of Air Corps engineers and Maj. Dudley G. Strickler's fine Third Battalion of the Forty-Fifth Infantry.

At Agloloma Point the Japs hardly touched the beach. Troops along the beach defenses shelled and machine-gunned them as they neared the shore, and our P-40's, happy to be rid of reconnaissance duty, strafed the landing boats, sinking and scattering them.

The fourth landing, on the tiny peninsula between the Anyasan and Salaiim rivers, was the most serious threat, most likely to cut the road that led south to Mariveles—take-off point for Corregidor, which stood like a bulwark to our rear.

Miscellaneous units defending the peninsula between the Anyasan and the Salaiim were thrown back by the force of the landings. I ordered a regiment of infantry—the 57th (Scouts)—to rush to the support of the motley defenders.

The Battle of Quinuan Point lasted 12 bloody days and nights, during which time Maj. Strickler's Third Battalion performed heroically. This great battalion had to fight virtually alone. I could not send anything else down there without weakening my main front to the north—a front which already was taking heavy blows from the main Jap forces.

The Third Battalion went into action with a major, four captains, a full complement of lieutenants and 600 men. When it was withdrawn 12 days later, after driving the Japs into the China Sea, it was commanded by a second lieutenant and its force had been hacked down to 212 men. Every other officer and man was accounted for as having been buried or evacuated wounded. There were no stragglers.

Its gallant Maj. Strickler, a heroic leader in the close-quarter fighting, was found on the front line of the battalion, dead, a bullet through his helmet.

The men had fought under terrible handicaps in jungle and bamboo wilderness so dense that only high-angle fire weapons were effective. To win that battle we had to exhaust some of the last infantry mortar ammunition of my I Corps. The bamboo actually deflected our .30 caliber fire.

At the climax of the battle of Quinuan Point, when the enemy was driven back to the sea, many Jap troops took cover in a cave along the water line. The cave had been eaten out of the cliff by the wash of waves. Now you must remember that these were the early days of our war with Japan, and the men in that cave were some of the first Japs—if not the first—thus pocketed.

They refused to surrender. When this was reported to me it was hard to believe. I ordered another proffer of honorable surrender, but the trapped Japs fired on troops who brought the offer.

The old rules of war began to undergo a swift change in me. What had at first seemed a barbarous thought in the back of my mind now became less unsavory. I thought of Gen. U. S. Grant's land mine at Petersburg, and made up my mind.

I arranged for a small gunboat which had remained in our waters to move in from the sea and shell the cave, while engineers crawled to ward it from the landward side, lowered electrically fused mines and blew the place to pieces. There were no survivors. It had at last dawned on me, as it was to dawn on so many commanders who followed me in the Pacific War, that the Jap usually prefers death to surrender.

Our men, in that critical battle which saw our whole position on Bataan in jeopardy, preferred death to defeat. In this fight my aide, Johnny Pugh, found a dead Philippine Scout sergeant with his right hand cut off at the wrist. His pistol lay close to the left hand. In front of the sergeant was a dead Jap lieutenant. Beside him was his bloody sword. The Scout with the severed right hand had killed the Jap with his left.

The backbone of the fighting on the point between the Anyasan and Salaiim rivers—another 12-day battle—was Col. E. J. Lilly's Fifty-Seventh Regiment of Scouts, freshly arrived from Parker's 2nd Corps.

When at last Lilly's men drove the Japs back to the shoreline they were stunned to find the first Jap suicidists... hard to believe in those days when most of us presumed that the Jap fighter was a human being much like the rest of us.

Tomorrow — Gen. Wainwright tells of his own narrow escapes from death on Bataan, sketches the aid rendered to him by the fabulous Igorot tribesmen, and gets a mysterious call from MacArthur.

"WEALTH COMES from industry and from the hard experience of human toil.

"To dissipate it in waste and extravagance is disloyalty to humanity. This is by no means a doctrine of parsimony.

"Both men and nations should live in accordance with their means and devote their substance not only to productive industry, but to the creation of the various forms of beauty and the pursuit of culture which give adornments to the art of life."

A COMMUNIST RECANTS

THE SOLITARY scholar in the high command of the Communist Party has renounced Bolshevism to return to the religious faith of his fathers, and has forsaken the "comrades" at Union Square to become an instructor in orthodox ethics and economics at Notre Dame University.

It required several years of service as editor-in-chief of "The Daily Worker," the official organ of the party, to convince Louis F. Budenz that Communism is a monstrous evil.

Out of his conviction he purposes now to labor as he can in converting others from the delusions of Marxism or to prevent others from falling into the ranks of Red reactionary-ism which tries to masquerade as "liberalism" and to disguise its brutalizing tyranny under the fake label of "democracy."

"I will show up Communism in THEORY and PRACTICE in the classroom," he says.

Here are some of the aspects of Communism which Mr. Budenz has discerned at first hand and which he intends to expound: Communism destroys "the thinking and integrity of the individual."

Communist leaders are not free moral or political agents—they "get orders from somewhere," which is an euphemism for Moscow.

Communism was "irrevocably set up for the ending of religion."

Communism has cultivated "lust for power."

"Communist arrogance," Mr. Budenz explains, "with which the world is now familiar, arises out of this destructive viewpoint."

"It tends to substitute ABUSE for THOUGHT; bureaucracy for democratic procedure."

BEHIND these informed analyses of "philosophy" are the grisly images of Communist reality—of Totalitarianism in government and the enslavement of labor.

Mr. Budenz has undertaken a large task in proposing to "show up Communism" for what he now knows it to be.

But it is a task that needs to be incessantly done and that can be done: The Hearst newspapers have been doing it faithfully for many years.

Louis Budenz's lectures should benefit many young college students.

His Communist experience, and his denunciation of the false, stark creed, should shame and bestir the self-styled "liberals" and fellow travelers who chorus Communist "doctrine"—and the Communist "party line"—in class-rooms and in radical press and radio commentaries without really KNOWING what Communism actually is and without having Mr. Budenz's intelligence and courage and honesty to LEARN.

TENNESSEE WILLIAMS, who was born in Mississippi, is the author of "The Glass Menagerie," which is by far the best play in New York at this time. To this play Laurette Taylor has contributed the greatest performance of her career. However, to say, as some people have, that the success of the play is due to Miss Taylor is hardly correct. Rather, it should be said that the success of Miss Taylor in reviving her reputation as a truly great actress is due to the play. No actress was ever offered a better opportunity to display her talents. In "The Glass Menagerie" young Mr. Williams has written the kind of play that William Saroyan has so long been trying to write.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS:
Q—I live in Ashtabula, Ohio. Is there another city or town by this name any place in the world? A—Ashtabula on the Ashtabula river in Ashtabula County, Ohio, is the only town in the world with this name.

Q—Is 17-year-old Pat, Jack Lucas the youngest to ever be awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor? A—I believe this medal was awarded to a 16-year-old lieutenant in the Civil War. I'll have to check on it. You'll be hearing from me.

PLEASE NOTE: Am informed that a young woman walked into a police station and gave the desk sergeant a detailed description of a man who had dragged her by the hair down three flights of stairs, threatened to choke her and finally beat her up. "Your description of the man is excellent," said the desk sergeant. "We shall have him arrested and put in jail in practically no time at all." The young woman said: "But I don't want him arrested. Just find him for me. He promised to marry me."

ASIDES: A young gentleman who wishes to send some flowers to a girl born under Gemini wants to know if any particular flower has been assigned to those born under this sign. According to the star-gazers, the Gemini flower is the rose.

HORSES & WOMEN: Note an actress described as being "long, lean and lovely." She is a very nice looking girl. But according to the research of our Horses & Women Department the majority of men are naturally attracted by women who are long and lovely but don't like them too lean. According to Michael Angelo, the ideal figure is that of a woman five feet seven inches tall, weighing about 130 pounds.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Writes a feminine subscriber: "I was born in Fertile, Minn., which is noted for its large families. And yet people keep asking: 'What's in a name?' ... The Ziegfeld Follies star who quit at the peak of his career to join the St. Louis, Mo., police force is Harry Fender. Harry is now a detective sergeant and has developed into quite a sharp sleuth ... Mrs. A. Renell of Chicago, who is 94 years old, has three living children, 11 living grandchildren, 31 living great-grandchildren and 13 living great-great-grandchildren. That looks like a tough one for Texas or California to top. Maybe even Brooklyn can't better it."

PROBLEM SOLVED: "As to that problem a U. S. Army sergeant sent in," writes a San Franciscan, "and which you said took 40 minutes of your time to solve, the answer is: The sergeant had $3.75 when he started out. My son figured this out in 10 minutes. Do not send him a stogie. Send him a lolly-pop. He is 11 years old."

PASSING BY—Gen. Mark Clark. One of this Department's favorite generals. His fellow members of the My Name Is a Poem Club are mighty proud of him.

Gypsy Rose Lee

In the news photos from the front I was always greatly impressed by the marked formality of Gen. Clark's battle attire. The United States generals certainly did not go for anything fancy in uniforms. But for the stars you could hardly tell them from privates ... Bob Mizzzy. One of Gypsy Rose Lee's ex-husbands. Haven't seen Miss Lee lately. She seems to be devoting a considerable time to her literary efforts. Or maybe it is her child that is keeping her busy. It must be interesting to see Gypsy rocking a cradle.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, by King Features Synd., Inc.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—I tell you honest, I just went into this hotel because I had a date for lunch with an old friend, a Supreme Court justice, who had flown up for his dancing lesson.

Westbrook Pegler

I was just waiting there in the lobby, causing no disturbance, when the manager he came up with a half-brick in his hand and he said, "be absent," he said, "be missing," he said, "because we haven't got any rooms and we aren't taking any reservations and I am getting sick and tired of people coming in here trying to rent rooms and offering us $25 a night for a little $3.50 flea-bag and a hundred dollar bonus for our kindness because it is bums like you throwing money around who are making life miserable for honest hotel men and it is nothing but inflation and you ought to be patriotic and stay the hell home."

"Honest," I said, "I wasn't even thinking about a room and all as I wanted, why my old friend the justice he is coming up for his dancing lesson, so I asked him to lunch and he was going to meet me here and then we were going—"

"That is a new stall," he said, "and I have heard plenty of good ones especially since V-E Day and then Eisenhower Day and Nimitz Day but we have got you covered and you make one move toward that registration desk or you try to pull a sneak up the back stairs and the house dicks will be all over you."

"Moreover I had to hire 20 of the most insulting, crooked, nasty-talking leeches that I could find and spread them around for room clerks, telephone operators and waiters so I figured the Labor Relations Board was the logical place so I sent down and got me a slew of their best agents and most of them are Communist hangers-on, trained for years in acting dirty and underhanded and naturally they figured here was a wonderful chance to louse up our reputation with the public and bankrupt the investment."

EXCUSING HIMSELF, he put out his foot and deliberately tripped an old lady so that she fell against a pillar and got a black eye.

"Nothing fazes them, though," he said. "Spill soup on them, lose their laundry, it makes no difference. You can't insult them."

"Why those Labor Relations fellows are practically ready to commit suicide because, here for more than two weeks, they have been snarling and sneering at the customers, balling up their phone calls and waking them up in the middle of their sleep with wrong numbers—and instead of being sore why when their five days are up you ought to hear them whine for just a few days more."

"What for do you do the customers that way, anyway?" I asked him.

"Because why don't they stay home where they belong instead of everybody coming to New York and crowding up things so you can't get a taxi and people walk all the way from Grand Central carrying heavy baggage and we have to spread cots in the dining rooms and not a night goes by but a dozen war veterans and their little wives and sometimes a baby, even, and their home-folks are bunking in the chairs in the lobby. That is why."

"In Bryant Park, too, until it got too cold, and some of them flop on the benches in Grand Central and Penn Station and three old ladies drove up from Georgia expecting rooms because they were old customers and they slept the night in their car right out in front and it served them right for not staying home."

"AND NOW," he said, "the fleet is coming up from the Pacific and starting this week we are going to have 30,000 sailors and Marines loose on the town and their families coming on to see them first time since they went away to the war and that is going to last anyway two weeks and already the jam has backed up as far as Newark and Stamford and even there the hotels are turning them away and so you come tripping gayly in wanting a—"

"I don't want no such thing," I insisted. "I told you my friend the Supreme Court justice was coming up for his dancing lesson so I made a date—"

"Well," he said, "you look like you want a room and all these buyers in town and they can't get any merchandise so they hang around using up space and business men are great hands to talk, talk, talk before they can reconver and it is the same all over town and the only way I can see why anybody wants a room—well you have to be nominated at birth, like for Groton."

I guess the dancing teacher kept the justice after school because I saw it was half-past two so I walked away and the manager said, "I knew it was a stall all the time."

"Take ALL my stuff! Since I'm bein' discharged soon and becomin' a taxpayer I might as well LOOK the part!"

Nails Need Cream That Strengthens Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

LOOK AHEAD and marvel at the shape of things to come. Unexpected angles appear in today's plans for the modern home . . . but angles have gone from the new fashion silhouette. Fashion, too, has reached a turning point . . . smooth curves predominate now in full skirts, soft shoulders, miniature waistlines . . . even the new hats are as round as the world.

Fashion

P. M. DATES are back on the social calendar . . . and for those dress-up moments, harbingers of romance and joy, we give you this smart black crepe with a high peekaboo neckline front and back. Jet-embroidered cut-outs of crepe outline the deep circular yoke for an alluring feminine effect. The hat is high and so will your spirits be in this original from the Samuel Kass collection.—R. M.

What about the shade of things to come? Color has created some exciting news . . . and a clear, well-balanced red . . . as bright as your dreamed-of-tomorrows . . . as high and soaring as your wishing star . . . is truly "a shade of things to come" color for your nails.

But what's the good of talking about scintillating nail polish if a gal hasn't got the nails to dazzle proudly as vital drama to all the new beiges . . . and as dramatic and sharp contrast with the heralded browns and blacks? A girl has got to have tools she can work with before she can show off her fashion-wise and beauty-consciousness.

NOURISHES THE NAILS

Well, here's one Dorchester reader who appreciates what the column did for her. She writes: "Recently I learned of a wonderful nail cream through your column. I have been using it every night for one week now. It has really done wonders already."

That's music to a beauty editor's ears . . . but what could be a whole symphony of glorious music to your nails . . . nourishing them to length and strength . . . is the wonderful nail cream to which Dorchester's E. H. refers. It is a creamy liquid that smooths over the nails . . . with or without polish . . . works its way into the cuticle . . . at the incipency of the nail's growth, invigorates it with the will to grow long and strong . . . and anoints it with protection against brittleness . . . split and cracked or peeling finger nails. Massage it gently into the cuticle every night . . . and your efforts will be amply rewarded.

HANDS TELL A STORY

Then, you, too, can display boastfully and joyfully two hands that are a delight to behold. A woman's hands . . . especially her fingernails . . . tell a story of the company they keep . . . careful grooming or neglect. But if they are beautiful nails they imbue a woman with untold confidence.

For then they can carry and wear with distinction . . . a noted colorist's new stunning red . . . the knowing color that holds its own with all this season's brilliant costume colors. For the name of this nail growing and strengthening cream and the brand new top color satiny-finish nail polish, phone the Beauty Dept., LIB-erty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

NAIL POLISH is as necessary a beauty prop as a lipstick . . . and a new satiny-finish red . . . as bright as tomorrow's dream . . . as exciting as mapping an airway trip . . . is a noted colorist's latest contribution to the color scene. But before your fingernails can wear such stunning polish color with distinction . . . they must be long and strong . . . which can be cultivated with an amazing creamy liquid massaged nightly into the cuticle and over the nail. Then your fingernails will be as interesting as those displayed by this luscious model.

Parents Object to Her Going Out With Soldier

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I have to decide between going out with a young man of 23 or dating a younger boy. I'm 17 and very fond of a soldier I met at the home of a girl chum while he was home on furlough. We have the same ideals, like sports, and both like to read. I also go out with younger boys, but they bore me, as they constantly want to neck.

My parents are opposed to my friendship with the soldier and prefer that I go out with someone younger and think I should date only one boy. I like a variety. If I have to date only one, I'd choose the young man of 23 who doesn't want to sit around all evening and pet.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIOR. If your parents insist upon your going out with only one boy, the young man of 23 who doesn't insist on continual "petting" and who likes to read would seem to make a better friend than the youngsters you mention.

Why not explain this preference to your mother? If you were my daughter I wouldn't restrict you to one boy friend. Remember the old law: "There's safety in numbers."

Breton Hat Makes Bow The Correct Thing

By BETTINA BEDWELL

EVERYTHING to do with the styles is getting curvaceous. The designers of our clothes and accessories, like nature, seem to hate the straight line. And, it seems to me, the ladies are going to be swinging right along with them in this, for curves are better beautifiers, as any child ought to know.

Latest hat is the deep-curved Breton hat, worn off the face. Miss Dulin has sketched one. This is a dressy edition from Braagyard, and the hat itself is made of pale beige felt with the deep curving brim rising high at the top and narrowing down to the back of the neck.

Turquoise velvet ribbon around the face makes a bow under the shaded beige ostrich feathers that form the main trimming.

Top Lime Treats

By MARTHA LEE

Household Editor

IF YOU WENT marketing today, you probably noticed how plentiful big dark green Persian limes are. If you like the flavor of limes, this is the time to enjoy them to your heart's content.

There is nothing new about this flavor, of course, because limes were a highly prized delicacy centuries ago in the fabulous countries of the East. But the limes you buy today are quite different. Before the war limes were little yellow ones from the West Indies. But when the war cut off those imports, the growers from the southern part of our own country came to the rescue.

HAVE MANY USES

The flavor of lime is one that accents clear soups, seafood, melon, fruit compotes, etc. It goes well in all kinds of chilled and frozen desserts and drinks. In fact, limes can be used whenever a lemon is called for. The delicacy of lime has a real advantage this year because it requires less sweetening than do more acid fruits, and that means an easing on your already-taxed sugar bowl.

LIME JELLY

2 tbsp. plain unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
2 1/2 cups boiling water
Dash of salt
1 1/2 cups corn syrup
1 1/2 cup lime juice
Soften gelatin in cold water. Add boiling water, salt and corn syrup, and stir until dissolved. Cool and add strained fruit juice. Pour into mold and chill until firm. Unmold on serving platter and serve with Foamy Lime Sauce. Makes 6 servings.

FOAMY LIME SAUCE

2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
2 tbsp. sugar 1/4 tsp. salt
1-3 cup orange juice
1/4 cup lime juice
2 egg whites
1/4 cup corn syrup
1 tsp. grated lime rind
Mix egg yolks, sugar, salt and fruit juices in top part of double boiler. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens slightly and coats the spoon. Remove from heat at once, set in pan of cold water to cool. Beat egg whites until stiff. Beat in corn syrup slowly and continue beating until stiff.

LIME PEAR SALAD

1 No. 2 can pear halves
1/2 cup lime juice
1/2 cup pear syrup
1/4 cup salad oil
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. paprika
1 tsp. sugar
Shredded young cabbage
Drain pears; marinate in lime juice for at least 30 minutes; drain. Combine pear syrup, lime marinade, salad oil, salt, paprika and sugar. Shake in glass jar or beat with rotary beater to mix well. Arrange tender shredded cabbage on individual salad plates or on salad platter. Arrange pear halves over cabbage. Serve with lime dressing mixture. 6 to 8 servings.

LIME CHIFFON PIE

1 crumb shell 1 tsp. gelatin
2 tbsp. cold water
4 eggs, separated
1/2 cup lime juice
1/2 tsp. salt 3/4 cup sugar
1 1/2 tsp. grated lime rind
Prepare a 9-inch crumb shell. Chill thoroughly. Soften gelatin in the cold water. Beat egg yolks until light. Add lime juice, salt, 1/4 cup of the sugar. Cook in the top of a double boiler over hot, not boiling, water until thickened, stirring constantly. Add the softened gelatin to the hot mixture and stir until dissolved. Remove from hot water. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; gradually beat in remaining sugar and the lime rind. Fold into gelatin mixture. Pile lightly into crumb shell. Chill until firm. Top with whipped cream. Sprinkle with toasted coconut, if desired.

Smart Set

By BETTY ALDEN

OCTOBER 16 may be many things to you—the date of your hero's homecoming, the bus strike or just another beautiful autumn day—but it's redeployment day in the life of your faithful scribe.

Today we take pen in hand, or to be more up-to-date and accurate, typewriter in lap, for the first time after a three-month sabbatical leave. During these months Miss Elizabeth Douvris, who calls herself Betty, Jr., has been pinch hitting on this column and we know she's done a super job because we've read the paper every day (except one or two at Richardson House) and we've also read a few to our first and only son whose comments are not quite understandable but obviously approving.

We couldn't think of a more enjoyable way of starting back to work than attending Mrs. John U. Lemmon's cocktail party Saturday for her son Jack, newly elected president of Harvard's swanky Pudding Club. The party was at the Lemmons' handsome Beacon st. apartment where the lovely pale blue drawing room and wide terrace overlooking the river were jammed with 100 or more collegian members of Pudding, A. D., and Delphic Clubs with their debutante dates. They came on from the football game and later attended the Pudding's first lance since before the war.

IN HONOR of most of Jack's classmates who are in the Naval ROTC there were trays of colorful red, white and blue hors d'oeuvres in the shapes of Navy anchors, shields and stars. There and gay in a black crepe and lace afternoon gown "Mili" Lemmon received with her house guest, Mrs. E. Hughes Giblin of New York, who also wore sophisticated black. A talented pianist and composer, Jack played the piano and Sally Sears, society's attractive young night club songstress, sang.

Toasts were proposed to Ken Howes, Jr., and Gussie Wolcott, who are to be married Saturday, and to Roswell Perkins and Joan Titcomb, who become Mr. and Mrs. next week. Charlotte Worthen, Jack's date, wore a black satin evening shortie with gardenias and other guests were Vee Hood with George Tilghman, Joan Humphrey in royal blue with modernistic gold jewelry, her brother Dick, Rosie Gardner and her brother Bob, Hannah Bradley in modish black with deep net yoke, Diana Metcalf, Connie Minot, Mrs. Benjamin Gardner, Hilda Ayer, Mr. and Mrs. William Gable and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ayers.

Also Charlotte Crocker, whose

Bob Chandler, Joan Downey, Nancy Richmond, Fred Freeman, a former Pudding president, Jerome Andrews, Fred Murphy, Sue Bradford, Alison Kelsey, Gioia Griess and her newly married brother-in-law and sister, Capt. and Mrs. Raymond Higgins, who have set up house-keeping in a Dartmouth st. apartment.

DR. AND MRS. JOHN W. BARTOL, Mrs. John Churchill, Mrs. Horace Binney and Mrs. Franklin B. Davis will be among those hearing Everts Scudder, U. S. information representative, to the British troops, speak at the English Speaking Union and meeting at the Junior League tomorrow afternoon.

Also attending will be Mrs. Theodore G. Bremer, Mrs. Henry C. Gilbert, Mrs. Frederick S. Whitwell, Mrs. David Reynolds, Mrs. Walter Lee, Mrs. Robert E. Leabody, Miss Ethel F. Fisk and Miss Susan W. Flint.

Thrillers on New Film Bills

Suspense, shock and strange emotional tangles make up the warp and woof of the week's incoming film fare, guaranteeing the town's moviegoers a sufficiency of spine-chilling entertainment.

"Uncle Harry," based on the Broadway crime success, is due on Keith Memorial screen tomorrow. Joan Harrison, whose brilliant technique was developed as Alfred Hitchcock's assistant, piloted the George Sanders-Geraldine Fitzgerald-Elia Kazan production. Mutineers and murders form the context of the plot of "Johnny Angel," which brings George Raft, Claire Trevor and Signe Hasso to the RKO Boston screen on Thursday.

Another spine-chiller but this time a factual drama out of the FBI files is "The House on 92nd Street," 20th Century-Fox's much-heralded production, opening Thursday on the Paramount and Fenway screens.

Small-town complacency and self-centeredness are the twin villains in Metro's true-to-life drama, "Our Vines Have Tender Grapes," which is to have its local premiere on Loew's twin screens Thursday. Edward G. Robinson and small fry stars, Margaret O'Brien and Jackie "Butch" Jenkins top the cast. Although Robinson's recent roles have taken him out of gangster melodramas, this is his initial part without comedy or murder.

B. U. War Hero Confounds Doctors With His Spirit

By HUCK FINNEGAN

Remember a freshman halfback at B. U. named Everett Dorr who did such a grand job against B. C.'s 1942 steamroller? Well, the youngster from Scituate is back at B. U. trying to play football again. But since that 1942 fall afternoon he's been in the Marines, is doubtful if they'll be a match for the Cadets. Most of them have been away from the game for years, most of them overseas for 18 months, overweight and not in good football condition. "Army won't outweigh us," smiled Mike, hinting he fears the worst. His team, which includes Walter Mc Donald and Lou Thomas of Tulane, has beaten Worcester Tech, 32-0; Providence Steamroller, 33-0; Quincy Marlets, 14-0 and U. S. Sub Base, 32-7. That type of competition isn't the proper buildup for a game with Army. Tufts, for example, snowballed W. Tech 64-0 Saturday.

"I let them roll it up," said Lew Manly. "Some of the boys have been practicing faithfully since August and never got into a game before. So I let them have their fun."

Everett Dorr
Looks as if he might make it, next year at that, they now agree.

It is because of boys like Dorr that B. U. decided to field a football team this year for the first time since '42. On the squad of 33 Bob McKelvey is whipping into condition are 24 ex-servicemen, 21 of them overseas vets. On the starting eleven against Tufts 9 to 1 have seen overseas duty. And where is there another college eleven that can match that record?

The lineup: ends, Fran Curtis and John Witkowski; tackles, Larry Cugini and Walter Taylor; guards, Ernie Dorr (brother of Everett) and George Mackoul; center, Lou Pantelozos; qb, Mike Ameen; lb, Cyril Chapman; rfb, Paul Gallagher; fb, Charlie Mains.

Welcome visitor at the weekly football luncheon at the Kenmore was Mike Holovak, whose only previous appearance at the festive board was the Monday before his 1942 BC team was upset 55-12 by HC. Mike is coaching the Melville, R. I. PT boaters who face Army at West Point Saturday, no enviable task. He's got some great "name" players at the base but it is doubtful if they'll be a match for the Cadets. Most of them have been away from the game for years, most of them overseas for 18 months, overweight and not in good football condition. "Army won't outweigh us," smiled Mike, hinting he fears the worst. His team, which includes Walter Mc Donald and Lou Thomas of Tulane, has beaten Worcester Tech, 32-0; Providence Steamroller, 33-0; Quincy Marlets, 14-0 and U. S. Sub Base, 32-7. That type of competition isn't the proper buildup for a game with Army. Tufts, for example, snowballed W. Tech 64-0 Saturday.

"I let them roll it up," said Lew Manly. "Some of the boys have been practicing faithfully since August and never got into a game before. So I let them have their fun."

Hafey Arthur, from Dartmouth, reports Tuss McLaughry as quipping: "Now that the preliminaries are over, we can get down to the main business of our schedule." The "preliminaries" included powerhouse HC, Penn and Notre Dame. Remaining on the schedule are Syracuse (Oct. 27) Yale, Princeton, Cornell and Columbia, much more on the Green's physical par... BC has no game this week, Harvard is playing the Sub Base from New London and Brown is host to HC.

"How can Brown stop HC?" coach Rip Engel inquired. "If we concentrate on Koslowski, Byers will murder us on reverses and Kissell through the middle." Engel has Yale and Columbia to worry about after HC. He had a good word for center Danny Norwood from Reading and tackle Jim Lalikos from Peabody. The latter ("the best we have") calls Browns' signals.

Dick Harlow scouted Sub Base vs. Melville and described Mr. Jones from Tulane as "one of the few men in history who runs better without interference than with it." It will be Harlow's job to design a defense for said Mr. Jones this week. "And Mr. Holovak is doing a fine job with Melville," Harlow added. "When he stepped into the qb slot, the team started to move with alacrity." Holovak is playing under the center because he is having leg trouble and can't buck the line as he did in days of yore.

Bruins to Play Pics Tomorrow

QUEBEC CITY, Oct. 16—The finest Bruins hockey squad to represent Boston since before the war, started its final week of pre-season practice today, with Bill Cowley ace playmaker, taking his place in a line for the first time with Herb Cain and Terry Reardon.

While Manager Art Ross will not comment on the squad of 14 players plus goal tenders he will dress for the opening league game in Boston, against the Chicago Black Hawks on Wednesday, Oct. 24, rink observers have little doubt as to the team makeup.

The Bruins line seems fairly well set. Milton Schmidt, skating with the same skill and dash which made him hockey's greatest player before going off to war three years ago, will center the first line with his old linemates Woolly Dumart and Bobby Bauer. Don Gallinger, one of the Bruins speediest forwards will have Bep Guidolin and Bill Shill for wings, and Bill Cowley will team up with Terry Reardon and Herb Cain.

Ross has been using five defense men, Dit Clapper, Jack Crawford Murray Henderson, Pat Egan and Jack Church. Church, who formerly played with Toronto and the New York Americans and has been in the service for the last three years, has played well and my tick.

The Bruins will play the Boston Olympics here Wednesday night in an exhibition game. Over 1000 delegates attending the United Nations food conference here will be guests of the management.

President Bill Tobin of the Chicago Blackhawks, Bruins' opponents at the Boston Garden opener Oct. 24, has purchased two boxes (price $49.50) to be given veterans.

Winchester Uninterested

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Coach Henry Knowlton's 1945 edition of football at Winchester High School could be as good as the 1942 outfit that romped to the Class C championship behind the clever Billy West—but as it steps into the more rugged half of its schedule, it's still lacking in experience.

This new team is a better all-round outfit but with only two full-fledged veterans, it hasn't the touch that the title outfit possessed.

As a matter of fact, Coach Knowlton has a pair of "hand-me-downs" from that championship club. In place of Frankie Buzzotta, Coach Knowlton now has his younger brother, Mario, 180-pound junior at quarterback. And replacing West now at West Point as a second string back, Winchester has his kid brother, Johnnie, 190-pound triple-threat fullback.

It's true that Winchester has rolled over Swampscott (7-6), Lexington (13-0), Watertown (13-0) and Winthrop (14-6) and will probably add Stoneham to its list of victims Saturday afternoon. But then, the junior giants of the schoolboy gridiron world stop up—in order, they list Framingham, Reading, Belmont, Wakefield and Woburn. And there's not a pop-over in the list.

The prospect has Coach Knowlton worried. He'll readily admit that he'll be in for a "very rough time of it" although he has a ray of sunshine in the fact that 200-pound Roger Latham will be back in time for the Belmont game. Latham left school for the draft last spring so that he won't be eligible until the first issuance of marks.

ONE VETERAN IN LINE

Winchester lost its captain before the start of the season when Sam Thibault joined the U. S. Navy, following the footsteps of his brother Jim—and in the same manner. Both had been elected captains of football teams and both joined the service before stepping into the varsity lineup. A election was held with rfb Jim Haggerty, 179-pound senior, taking over. Haggerty operated in the single wing offensive with West, Buzzotta and Sam Bellino, 149-pound sophomore who took over the vacancy left by Sam Thibault. West, Bellino and Haggerty pass and kick equally well.

The line has actually only one veteran, end Don Armstrong, but all have been raised in Winchester's intensive "farm" system and most have seen service at various times in varsity play. They've graduated just as the youngsters now working out with assistants Andy Webster, John Stevens and Al Safarian will move up within the next three seasons.

Coach Knowlton has Don Jacobellis, 170-pound dashman from the track team, balancing Armstrong on the wings. Bill Nichols, 180-pound sophomore, has taken over in Latham's place at a tackle with the heavyweight of the squad, Frank Herlihy, 215, on the other side of the line. John Rutherford, 174, and Joe Dero, 170, are at guards with Bill White-more, 175-pound junior at center.

Winchester spares who will see service include: ends—Don Gallie, Joe Riga, Alan Switzer, Jack Chisholm; tackles—Jack Grimes, Jim Morrison, Sebbie Facciolo, Rudy Ferrara, Jim McLaughlin; guards—Parker Flagg, Jack Filler, Pete Ferro, Scott Dove; centers—Dick Kleber, Dave Merrill, Ed McGrath; backs—Aaron Ulrich, Charlie Flynn, Frank Nolan, Frank Serratore, Bob McGrath, Joe Amico, Henry Mottolo, Jerry Errico, Bob Wilson and Jack Morgan.

Coach Knowlton had a championship outfit in his third year at Winchester and if he's working in cycles, this is his year. His won-lost-tied marks were: 1940—4-3-3; 1941—9-1-0; 1942—10-0-0; 1943—5-3-2; 1944—9-1-0. This could be the season again!

THE PRIME OF LIFE CAN BE PROLONGED

Dr. Henry G. Sherman Says:

"A generous supply of Calcium results in better development of the young, a higher form of adult health and a longer life span. What we need to pull the prime of life out of the period between maturity and old age, is FUNDAMENTAL CALCIUM. SAYS CLAUDE WICKARD, former U. S. Secretary of Agriculture.

Calcium is more often deficient in the diet than any other mineral. It is a form of maintenance that may be the cause of acidity, nervousness, fatigue, weakened heart muscles and other effects which hasten the onset of "OLD AGE" and shorten the "PRIME OF LIFE."

AM I NERVOUS?

Sleeplessness with racing, jagged nerves may be due to a calcium deficiency which causes the body to become nervous and irritable.

DO I TIRE EASILY?

A calcium starved body tires easily. A calcium deficiency may cause us to tire more easily, less strength, energy and vitality. A person can be normal without a sufficient supply of calcium.

AM I OLD AT 40?

At 40, evidence of early aging, perhaps at 50 or 60, may be due to calcium deficiency. Calcium is needed, in adequate amount, in the repair and growth of body organs, tissues and cells. If your health is impaired, if you are run down, tired, old at 40 and nervous because you do not get enough Calcium or Phosphorus or Vitamin D, you may be old at 40.

See how much better you feel after KAL helps to build up, then maintain a normal Calcium balance. It keeps the help over the ill effects of a deficiency of the minerals KAL so richly supplies.

Important Announcement
NOW YOU CAN GET A
$100 LOAN
IF YOU CAN PAY BACK $7.29 A MONTH
Up to 18 months to repay*

WE'VE just extended from 12 to 18 months the time
in which most Household loans
may be repaid. More time means smaller monthly payments. So if it's more convenient for you to repay less per month, just see
the small payments Household
now offers.

All you do
All you do to apply for a Household loan of $100, $200 or more is to tell us a little about your problem and choose a payment plan. We require no endorsers or guarantors, no signatures of friends or other outsiders. You may borrow quickly, simply and privately—on your salary, car or furniture. To save time, phone
first, then call for the money

Smaller monthly payments
See in the table below the payment schedules you have to choose from. You are welcome to repay on the schedule that's most convenient for you. Payments shown include principal and charges. Charges are made only for the actual time you have the use of the money. The sooner you repay any loan the less it costs. Household makes only the one charge stated here.

Quick phone service
You may borrow from Household for almost any purpose.
Why don't you find the loan you need in the table and choose a convenient payment schedule
now? Then phone or visit
Household for quick action on your loan.
*Loans for the payment of certain "restricted" articles are still limited by Govt. regulations to 12 months.

Money to Loan

Important Announcement
NOW YOU CAN GET A
$100 LOAN
IF YOU CAN PAY BACK $7.29 A MONTH
Up to 18 months to repay*

WE'VE just extended from 12 to 18 months the time
in which most Household loans
may be repaid. More time means smaller monthly payments. So if it's more convenient for you to repay less per month, just see
the small payments Household
now offers.

All you do
All you do to apply for a Household loan of $100, $200 or more
is to tell us a little about your problem and choose a payment
plan. We require no endorsers
or guarantors, no signatures of friends or other outsiders. You may borrow quickly, simply and privately—on your salary, car or furniture. To save time, phone
first, then call for the money

Smaller monthly payments
See in the table below the payment schedules you have to choose from. You are welcome to repay on the schedule that's most convenient for you. Payments shown include principal
and charges. Charges are made only for the actual time you have the use of the money. The sooner you repay any loan the less it costs. Household makes only the one charge stated here.

Quick phone service
You may borrow from Household for almost any purpose.
Why don't you find the loan you need in the table and choose a convenient payment schedule
now? Then phone or visit
Household for quick action on
your loan.
*Loans for the payment of certain "restricted" articles are still limited by Govt. regulations to 12 months.

Typhoon Wreckage—Wreckage of the USS Ocelot lies awash in Buckner Bay, Okinawa, with the bow of a repair ship poking into the debris, after the ships were driven ashore by the typhoon which swept the island.

Terrific—The kicking prowess of Capt. Jim Haggerty, 179-pound back for Winchester High, has been a decisive factor in the victories the team has compiled

No Help

S-Sgt. Francis Whitehead didn't really help T-Sgt. Harvey Fountain hoist his pack—just gave moral support. Both boys are from Salem and arrived at Commonwealth Pier today

Tie Up

Towering cranes lining London's Royal Victoria docks stand silently by as ships containing food supplies crowd the pier waiting to be unloaded. Striking dock workers, who demand increased wages, have refused to work until their requests are met.
